

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION
ACCESS ADR PANEL MEMBERS

Mary Skelton Roberts (Massachusetts) is an expert in conflict management, negotiation and leadership development. She convenes, facilitates, and mediates environmental, public policy and commercial disputes involving multiple parties and highly complex issues. Ms. Skelton Roberts has provided mediation and conflict management services to clients such as National Health Services (UK), the European Union, Rail Track (UK), the United States Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S Department of Defense, the U.S. House of Representatives, and the U.S. Office of Health and Human Services. Ms. Skelton Roberts has taught negotiation courses at Bowie State University, the Center for Alternative Dispute Resolution; the Lincoln Institute for Land Policy; and the Program on Negotiation at Harvard Law School. She is currently senior faculty at the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution in London, England, where she serves as lead trainer for CEDR's international mediation training program. A native Spanish speaker, Ms. Skelton Roberts holds a Masters degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in addition to holding mediation and facilitation accreditations from the Program on Negotiation and the Harvard Mediation Program at Harvard Law School and the Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution in the U.K.